

Launching PGSM

The Fondation Sciences Mathématiques de Paris is launching a new education program at the Master level, located in Paris, to begin in Fall 2010:

Paris Graduate School of Mathematical Sciences

This program brings together all the masters in mathematical sciences from universities Pierre et Marie Curie, Paris-Diderot and Paris-Dauphine, founding members or partners of the Fondation Sciences Mathématiques de Paris. It offers a unique array of courses taught in French and English, based on the assembled competencies of all the Paris research laboratories in mathematical sciences.

The Fondation Sciences Mathématiques de Paris offers master courses scholarships and personalized support to excellent students, having studied abroad and selected through a written application process, in order to join the Paris Graduate School of Mathematical Sciences.

The application is open from January 31 to March 4, 2010.

Detailed information and the on-line application form can be found on the web site:
