The PhD courses last three years, save for those in "Methods and Models for Molecular Sciences", "Nanosciences", "Neurosciences" and "Political Science and Sociology", which last four years.

All courses will start on November 1, 2016. Admissions are based on candidates' academic work and interview.

All PhD programmes are open to both Italian citizens and students from outside Italy.

All students admitted to our PhD programmes receive full financial support. This includes tuition, fees, and a cost-of-living stipend.

All students will be assigned further funding for their research activity and travel.

Each PhD course offers scholarships reserved to students who graduated in non-Italian universities.

Application for admission must be made on-line at <http://phd.sns.it/en>
